Maria Montessori's Vision

Erdkinder — German for “children of the earth” — was Maria Montessori's vision for adolescent education. She believed that young people needed more than a classroom; they needed real work, real community, and real connection to the land. She imagined a farm school where they could contribute meaningfully, develop independence, and discover their place in the world. We believe in her vision: that a more peaceful world begins with education

Our consulting services are designed to support communities ready to bring this vision to life. All consultants hold the AMI 12–18 Adolescent Diploma and bring hands-on experience building programs from the ground up.
